4. Ms. Parrot is a freshly CSE graduate student who started a position in the industry as a researcher. Her team's technical leader Mr. Vulture is a brilliant but volatile person. He is an expert in augmented reality and his team member's work is highly cited. He claims the first authorship in all the works and his papers are also highly cited by the press. Mr. Vulture, claiming himself to be a perfectionist, never excuses anyone for tiniest mistakes. He also abuses verbally anyone who does a mistake. Also, sometimes Mr. Vulture's female team members find out that their names have been removed from the authorship which after publication comes under the copyright by the authors. Later on, after a highly successful project outcome in which Mr. Vulture's team was working, the Company called for a press conference. Ms. Parrot was the one who did all the groundwork and details of this project. However, Mr. Vulture refused to call Ms. Parrot on stage to sit with him at the Press Conference. Ms. Parrot went to the team manager Ms. Dove. Ms. Dove agreed to Ms. Parrot that the behaviour of Mr. Vulture was quite disagreeable, however, the intense, industry dominating team comes with some cons as well. Ms. Dove advised Ms. Parrot that, she needs to be more mature and learn to forget these in order to work and grow in the industry. In the given fact, what laws have been violated?
